

TYWLS at the Workplace

TYWLS at the Workplace (formerly TYWLS Works) is a signature program at The Young Women's Leadership Schools (TYWLS) that provides our 10th-grade students the opportunity to spend a half-day in professional worksites throughout New York City.

One hundred twenty-five students across all six schools are selected and will visit partner companies in small groups for an opportunity to learn and see what a day in the life of an employee is like.

We will collaborate with culturally diverse company representatives to plan a day that is informative and rewarding for employees and students alike. Our team prepares students and partner companies for success on the day of the event.
